

ABSTRACT

A backup system and method enables a user to configure the backup, data mirroring and/or a data copying process on a fine granularity level by configuring buffer memories of backup media agents and/or restore media agents which are coupled in one or more daisy-chain configurations.